ABOUT US

We are the gentle giants who have a firm belief in producing goods that are of great quality as we swear by “a good life is created from day one” and one should spend their money on quality products that make their every single penny worth. Our company Creed was built on sustainability and high morals and every single product shows the hard work of our management that they put into making them with love and care. We are compassionate towards the betterment of the environment, hence we obtain our raw materials from local farms and markets that are fresh, organic, and natural whilst we invest greatly in the making of our utensils that are made from quality metals and plastics that aren't harmful.
